What does this year contribute towards?
 How does this year deliver the curriculum intent? The Religious Studies intent is that all students will have an increased awareness of a range of religions and worldviews. Students will develop the knowledge, understanding and skills needed to appreciate and appraise varied responses to significant human questions, as well as develop their own response. Our curriculum takes a distinctive issues based approach to the study of religious, philosophical and ethical issues to aid students development in becoming effective citizens in the modern world. Students are encouraged to use and develop their language skills in order to challenge misconceptions surrounding religion, culture and beliefs. Oracy in Religious Studies is crucial in contributing to students social development.

How does this year deliver the curriculum intent? WJEC Eduqas GCSE Religious Studies provides opportunities for learners to understand more about the world, the religious challenges it faces and their place within it. Following this GCSE course will deepen understanding of religions and their effect on society. It will develop learners' competence in a wide range of skills and approaches and enable young people to become religiously informed and thoughtful, engaged citizens. This specification provides a solid basis for further study in this and related subject areas. In addition, it provides a coherent, satisfying and worthwhile course of study for learners who do not progress to further study.
